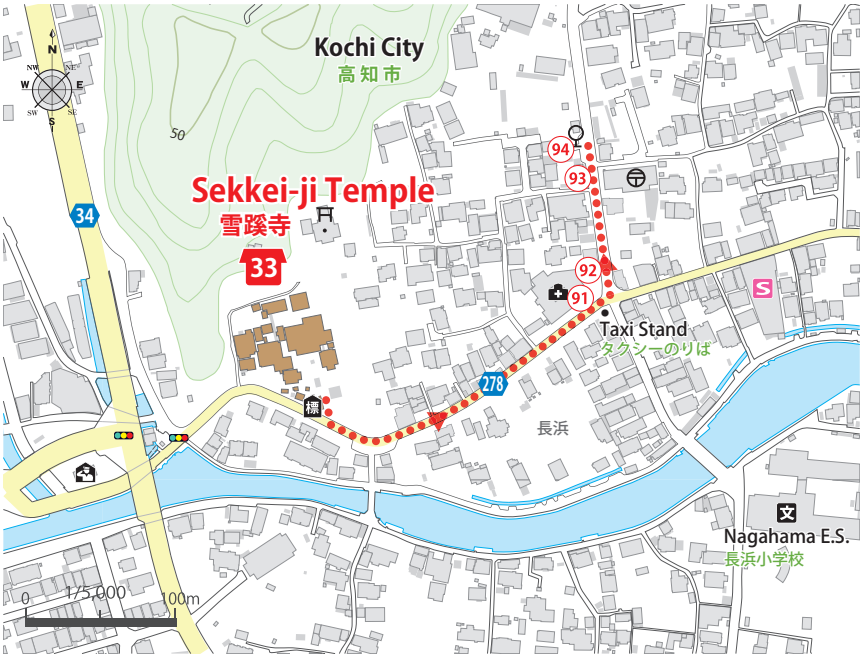
Sekkei-ji Temple (雪蹊寺)

Address : 857-3, Nagahama, Kochi City, Kochi Prefecture (高知市長浜857-3)

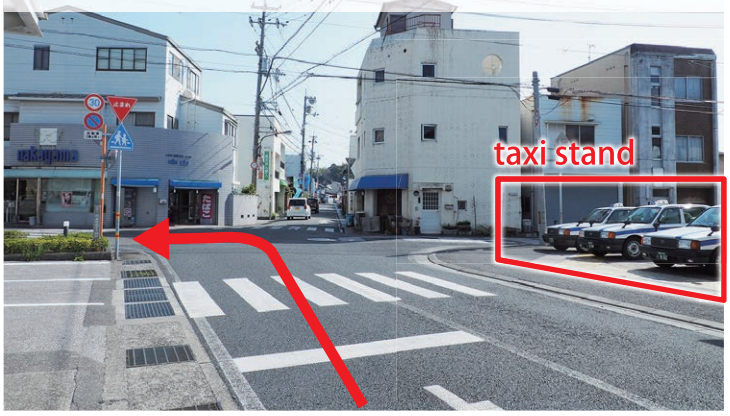
Brief History of Sekkei-ji Temple

One of only three Zen temples on the Shikoku pilgrimage. The temple was originally part of the Shingon sect initiated by Kukai during the Enryaku era (782-806) but converted to the Rinzai Zen sect to show their support of daimyo Chosokabe Motochika, who was in power at the time. The Hada Shrine, which venerates Chosokabe Motochika, and the ruins of Nagahama Castle, where he lived, are adjacent to one another.

【Going back to the city center】

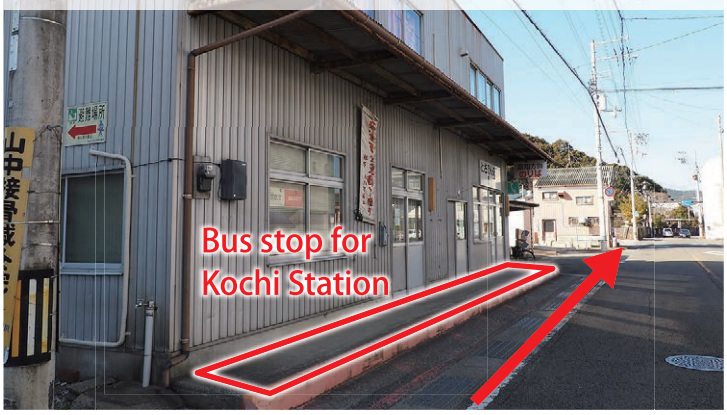


91 If you take a bus back to the center of Kochi City (Harimayabashi), go back the way you came and turn left at the intersection. There is a taxi stand at the intersection.



92

93 This is the bus stop for Kochi station. The bus is operated once an hour. The bus stop for the Harimayabashi direction is further straight ahead.



94 The bus stop for Harimaya Bridge is about 40m north from the bus stop for Kochi Station. The bus is operated about every 30 mins depending on the time of the day. Get off at the Minami Harimayabashi bus stop.
